

Class of 2024

Welcome to Stockton University!

School of Arts and Humanities (ARHU)

Welcome to the School of Arts and Humanities (ARHU) at Stockton University! In ARHU we value and teach critical thinking, creativity and self-expression, the ability to coherently articulate ideas, and cross-cultural communication and empathy.

ARHU programs reward a passionate engagement with their subject matter by developing students' abilities to think critically, communicate effectively, and find creative solutions to complex problems. These are skills 21st-century employers prize. Far from being a luxury, then, the arts and humanities are at the heart of what it takes to thrive and to make effective change in the world. Our programs can be tailored to your individual career goals through coursework, internships, personalized study opportunities with individual faculty, and study tours. In addition, the curriculum is known for interdisciplinary collaboration to enhance student learning and to build a broader skill set for the global job market.
