First Wednesday Professional Lecture: Developing a Handicap Scale for Measurement of Dual Sensory Loss in Older Adults

Wednesday, March 5, 2014 7:30am - 9:00am

Flyer      Register

The Health Center at Galloway, 66 West Jim Leeds Road, Galloway, NJ 08205

Presented by: Debra Busacco, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Health Sciences, RSCNJ; SCOSA Research Fellow.

This presentation will focus on the physical, social and psychological impact of dual sensory loss in older adults. Dr. Busacco will present a scale she developed to assess the handicapping effects of hearing and vision loss in this population. Clinical implications of using the results of this scale to determine an older adult's candidacy for auditory and/or visual rehabilitation programs will be addressed.

The seminar, designed for professionals, para-professionals, and other caregivers who work with older adults is free of charge and includes a light breakfast. Upon completion, participants will receive 1 CE for Social Workers, Marriage and Family Therapists and Licensed Professional Counselors.

Noteworthy

Last Chance to See: Growing Up in the Other Atlantic City

to be performed on February 21st at 7:30pm in Dante Hall, 14 North Mississippi Avenue, Atlantic City.

Celebrate the world premiere of an original collaboration by Atlantic City native, Guided Autobiography participant and presenter at SCOSA's 2013 Successful Aging Festival, Turiya Raheem. From the 1920s through the 1970s the Washington family helped build and shape a vibrant and thriving African American community in Atlantic City's Northside neighborhood. As we move through each decade of this true history, we witness the laughter, tears, ingenuity, hard work and commitment of one family's pursuit of the American Dream. The play was adapted for stage and is directed by Pamela Hendrick, professor of Theatre at The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey, in collaboration with Raheem.
