

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK NOVEMBER 15-19

Sunday, November 15

International Fair Trade Gift Fair Stockton Action Volunteers for the Environment (SAVE) is partnering with the South Jersey Fair Trade Alliance (SJFTA) once again to host the 11th Annual International Gift Fair. The event is free and open to the public and will feature local merchants selling fair trade products offered by volunteers and local nonprofit organizations that provide alternative gift options and information on local vendors. For more information, please contact SAVE at: stockton.save@gmail.com.
Campus Center Events Room • 11:00 a.m. – 6:00 p.m.

“The 11th Hour” Documentary Film Screening
The 11th hour is considered the final moment when change is possible. Theoretical physicist Stephen Hawking, former CIA director R. James Woolsey, academician and environmental activist David Suzuki PhD., environmentalist and academician Sylvia Earle PhD., founder of the World Watch Institute Lester R. Brown, founder and current president of The Land Institute Wes Jackson PhD., along with more than 50 other scientists, scholars, and leaders discuss pressing issues facing today’s world. Specialists reveal how human actions impact the Earth’s ecosystems, and what can be done to reverse or slow the damage before it is too late to save the planet.
Campus Center Theater • 1:00 – 2:45 p.m.

Monday, November 16

Study Abroad Tabling
Interested in studying, volunteering or interning abroad? We will answer all your questions about going abroad and provide you with the information, tools and resources you need to get started. You may also participate in our Study Abroad Trivia!
For more information, please contact Natalja Manger at Natalja.Manger@stockton.edu.
Main Campus E/F Wing Gallery • 12:00 – 2:00 p.m.

Global Studies Minor Tabling
Learn more about the Global Studies minor, its requirements and how it can enhance your degree.
For more information, please contact the Program Coordinator Reza Ghorashi at Reza.Ghorashi@stockton.edu.
Main Campus E/F Wing Gallery • 12:00 – 2:00 p.m.

Incorporating the Seven Revolutions in the Classroom: Faculty Discussion with Scott Aughenbaugh
Scott Aughenbaugh, Deputy Director of Strategic Futures at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) will brief faculty on the Seven Revolutions project and discuss methods of incorporating the content into the curriculum.
Campus Center Meeting Room 5 • 12:30 – 2:00 p.m.

Exchange Program Lecture: Colombia
Dr. Schindler will present on the various facets of a Learning Abroad program that Stockton University has with two universities in Bogotá, Colombia. This will include student exchange programs as well as some information about the country of Colombia and the city of Bogotá.
For more information, please contact Victoria Schindler at Victoria.Schindler@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Meeting Room 1 • 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.

CSIS Seven Revolutions Presentation – Scott Aughenbaugh
Scott Aughenbaugh is a deputy director of Strategic Futures at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS). He specializes in global trends analysis and forecasting, which is used in CSIS’s flagship presentation, “Seven Revolutions: Scanning the Horizon Out to the Year 2035 and Beyond.” In doing so, he carries out research on demographics, resource management, computing, data/information growth, social media, the effects of economic integration, and emerging security challenges. He has briefed the findings of this research to, and led discussions with, numerous colleges and universities, corporations, and government agencies.

An ongoing endeavor at CSIS for over 20 years, Seven Revolutions addresses and analyzes the key policy challenges that policymakers, business figures, and global leaders will face out to the year 2035 and beyond. Seven Revolutions is a distinct effort to promote strategic thinking about the long-term trends that too few take the time to consider. The research has been captured in an exciting, fast-paced, multimedia presentation that is internationally sought out by statesmen, CEO’s, and public figures alike for its unique perspective and delivery. For more information, please contact India Karavackas at India.Karavackas@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Board of Trustees’ Room • 3:30 – 5:00 p.m.

Funday Monday
The Office of Event Services & Campus Center Operations together with the Office of Service Learning bring you a fun night of programming, where participants can create international crafts, watch a cultural film and enjoy a variety of cultural snacks.
For more information, please contact Office of Event Services at Event.Services@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Coffee House • 8:00 – 9:30 p.m.

Tuesday, November 17

Poster Fair and GeoDome
Poster Fair - a visual presentation of enlightening global knowledge applicable to all areas of study is paired with the GeoDome - an inflatable, portable, immersive visualization dome with the entire interior surface acting as a 3-D projection screen. Whether you want to take a trip to countries and monuments anywhere in the world while inside the GeoDome or want to learn more about Stockton’s own student, faculty and staff international involvement projects, this event is for you.
For more information about the Poster Fair, please contact India Karavackas at India.Karavackas@stockton.edu, to learn more about the GeoDome contact Russell Manson at Russell.Manson@stockton.edu.
Main Campus C/D Atrium • 10:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

“Don’t Panic - The Truth about Population” Documentary
Seven billion people now live on this planet of ours. Isn’t it beautiful? When some people think about the world and its future they panic, others prefer not to think about it at all, but in this documentary Professor Hans Rosling will show you how things really are. Dr. Rosling is a statistician and will show you the world in a new way. He will tell you how the world’s population is changing and what today’s data tells us about the future of the world we live in. We undeniably face huge challenges, but the good news is that the future may not be quite as gloomy and that mankind already is doing better than many think.
Campus Center Theater • 9:00 – 10:00 a.m.

Study Abroad Workshop for K-12 students
In this workshop, we provide all basic information about how to make study abroad happen— topics such as cost and scholarship opportunities, how to apply, and which provider to choose. No RSVP needed.
For more information, please contact our Study Abroad Advisor Natalja Manger at Natalja.Manger@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Board of Trustees’ Room • 11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Chinese Musical Program
The Atlantic Chinese Community Choir presents a Chinese musical program. The performance includes Chinese Folk Dances and Songs, Guzheng Zither, a Beautiful Violin Solo, and a Chinese cultural Fashion Show.
For more information, please contact Amy Situ-Liu at situy@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Theater • 12:00 – 1:30 p.m.

Study Abroad Tabling
Interested in studying, volunteering or visiting abroad? We will answer all your questions about going abroad and provide you with the information, tools and resources you need to get started. You may also participate in our Study Abroad Trivia!
For more information, please contact Natalja Manger at Natalja.Manger@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Food Court • 12:00 – 2:00 p.m.

Internship Opportunities with CSIS and Washington Internship
Established in 1962, the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) is a bi-partisan, non-profit organization headquartered in Washington, D.C. The Center’s 220 full-time staff and large network of affiliated scholars conduct research and analysis and develop policy initiatives that look to the future and anticipate changes.

Scott Aughenbaugh, deputy Director of Strategic Futures, and Professor Michael Rodriguez will discuss the possibilities for students to intern with CSIS, and other Washington D.C. based organizations.
Pizzas will be served, limited seats available.
RSVP: Yibin.feng@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Meeting Room 1 • 12:30 – 2:00 p.m.

Globalization at Stockton: Faculty Get-together
Stockton faculty and staff involved in globalization initiatives will meet, share, and update their projects, research, interest, and connections. Please come and join us!
For more information, please contact JY Zhou at JY.Zhou@stockton.edu
Campus Center Board of Trustees’ Room • 12:30 – 1:30 p.m.

The Notre Dame Hesburgh Lecture: The Global Poverty Gap and World Hunger and The “Glocal” Panel Event
Kwan S. Kim, Ph.D., Professor Emeritus, Economics; Fellow, Kellogg Institute for International Studies and Liu Institute for Asian Studies. After taking a fresh look at the magnitude of global poverty, this lecture identifies the domestic and global sources of vulnerability facing the poor, and explores the local, national, and global actions needed to end extreme poverty and hunger in the context of social justice. Special reference is made to sub-Saharan Africa and other least-developed nations in Asia and Latin America.

A panel response to Dr. Kim’s lecture featuring Scott Aughenbaugh, Deputy Director of Strategic Futures at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) and Edward Wright, Communications Specialist for the United Nations Population Fund (UNPF) will immediately follow.
For additional information on the Hesburgh Lecture, please contact SCOSA director David Burdick at burdickd@stockton.edu or 609-652-4311.
Campus Center Theater • 4:30 – 5:45 p.m.
A light reception following the event will be held in the Theater Gallery • 5:50 p.m. – 6:20 p.m.)

The New York Times InEducation Event featuring David E. Sanger
Stockton’s Political Engagement Project/American Democracy Project and Service Learning join to co-sponsor the appearance of David E. Sanger, noted journalist and chief Washington correspondent for the New York Times.
For more information, contact Daniel.Tome@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Events Room 6:00 p.m. Overflow seating available in the Campus Center Theater.

International Writer-in-Residence: Michael Mendis of Sri Lanka
Michael Mendis is a Sri Lankan fiction writer and an independent researcher working with the Sri Lanka-based Centre for Policy Alternatives. He won the 2013 Commonwealth Short Story Prize for the Asia region. Mr. Mendis will read his work and lead a question and answer session.
For more information, please contact Judy Copeland at Judy.Copeland@stockton.edu.
Townsend Residential Life Center (TRL) • 6:00 p.m.

Wednesday, November 18

Poster Fair and GeoDome
Poster Fair - a visual presentation of enlightening global knowledge applicable to all area of study is paired with the GeoDome - an inflatable, portable, immersive visualization dome with the entire interior surface acting as a 3-D projection screen. Whether you want to take a trip to countries and monuments anywhere in the world while inside the GeoDome or want to learn more about Stockton’s own student, faculty and staff international involvement projects, this event is for you.
For more information about the Poster Fair, please contact India Karavackas at India.Karavackas@stockton.edu, to learn more about the GeoDome, contact Russell Manson at Russell.Manson@stockton.edu.
Main Campus C/D Atrium • 10:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.

UNFPA Speaker Edward Wright – “Global Population: Letting Human Rights Drive Development”
Global population is a field where human rights rule. Enabling each woman to plan how many children she has, and then to give birth safely, is a pathway that nearly every developed society has undergone in its progression to its current state. And yet in the developing world over 300 thousand women still die giving birth each year, and more than 220 million women are not able to access modern family planning. These challenges lie at the heart of the work of the United Nations Population Fund, striving to deliver a world wherever pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe and every young person can reach their potential.
The United Nations has just agreed on a course of action to bring about sustainable development for the next 15 years, and UNFPA’s work is at its core. This presentation will illustrate how the individual rights of today’s women and 1.8 billion young people are one of the most vital factors in determining the wellbeing of the world tomorrow.
Campus Center Theater • 11:30 – 12:30 p.m.

The United States Peace Corps Panel Discussion
Peace Corps representative, Patrick McGettigan is hosting a panel discussion on the United States Peace Corps, the benefits of international service, and the realities of serving abroad with Peace Corps.
For more information please contact Patrick McGettigan at pmcgettigan@peacecorps.gov.
Campus Center Meeting Room 1 • 12:30 – 2:00 p.m.

Study Abroad Tabling
Interested in studying, volunteering or visiting abroad? We will answer all your questions about going abroad and provide you with the information, tools and resources you need to get started. You may also participate in our Study Abroad Trivia!
For more information, please contact Natalja Manger at Natalja.Manger@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Food Court • 12:00 – 2:00 p.m.

International Writer-in-Residence: A Panel Discussion on International Gay Rights
Michael Mendis, (Sri Lankan fiction writer) will join a panel discussion on international gay rights.
For more information, please contact Judy Copeland at Judy.Copeland@stockton.edu.
Main Campus F-111 • 3:30p.m.

“The Great Japanese Retirement” Documentary
This irreverent and thought-provoking look at Japanese society examines the effects on the Japanese economy caused by the country’s rapidly aging population. While the global population keeps growing, Japan’s is shrinking. Low fertility, low birth rates and longer life expectancy leaves Japan with an old and rapidly aging population – with staggering economic and social implications. This documentary asks, what is the effect on the economy with a massive pension and welfare bill falling on a shrinking workforce? And what does the fate of this creaking population mean for the rest of the world?
Campus Center Theater • 6:00 – 7:30 p.m.

Thursday, November 19

Disability Awareness Project
In small group, the students will present on a specific disability (i.e., ADHD, LD, etc.). Through this project presentation, the students will share information about a specific disability in US and they will also provide a comparative view of the particular disability.
For more information, please contact Prof. Priti Haria at Priti.Haria@stockton.edu.
Main Campus D-Wing Gallery • 10:30 – 12:30 p.m.

Study Abroad Tabling
Interested in studying, volunteering or visiting abroad? We will answer all your questions about going abroad and provide you with the information, tools and resources you need to get started. You may also participate in our Study Abroad Trivia!
For more information, please contact Natalja Manger at Natalja.Manger@stockton.edu.
Main Campus E/F Wing Gallery • 12:00 – 2:00 p.m.

Fulbright Opportunities for Study and Research Abroad
Attend a lecture introducing the Fulbright U.S. Student Program. The Fulbright Program offers fellowships to U.S. graduating seniors, graduate students and young professionals and artists to study abroad for one academic year, as well as the Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program that sends American scholars, professionals and artists to lecture and/or conduct research abroad for up to one year.
For more information, please contact Robert Nichols at Robert.Nichols@stockton.edu.
Campus Center Meeting Room 1 • 2:00 – 3:00 p.m.

Globalization Lecture Series: Language and Global Culture
Lecture presented by Dr. Lois Spitzer, Associate Professor of Teacher Education.
For more information please contact Lois.Spitzer@stockton.edu.
Main Campus F-111 • 4:30 – 6:00 p.m.

Study Abroad Resume Workshop
Join us for a workshop providing on reflecting and translating your study abroad experience effectively on your resume. This workshop is relevant for study abroad returnees and prospective study abroad students.
For more information, please contact Assistant Director, Dayna DeFiore at dayna.defiore@stockton.edu.
Career Center, CC Suite 104 • 4:30 – 6:00 p.m.

Permaculture Workshop
What is permaculture??? How can we mimic or copy natural ecosystems to achieve sustainable agriculture principles and practices? Come and hear three unique perspectives for a well-rounded workshop covering the development and theory of the discipline, the practical application through the work of a recent graduate and the certification process for becoming an expert in permaculture design. Featuring Stockton Professor Christina Cavalier, Matthew Kuo Pfeiffer (University of Colorado Boulder ’13) and Wanda Knapik of My Local Garden. For more information, contact India.Karavackas@stockton.edu.
Main Campus L-112 • 6:00 – 8:00 p.m.

All Week Long Events:
International Flag Display
Flags of over 50 countries are displayed in the F Wind Atrium and Campus Center Coffee House.
Is your flag among them? Find out!