ROB HUBERMAN'S COMTEQ PUBLISHING FIRM WINS SILVER IN COMPETITIVE BOOK CONTEST

Since Rob Huberman founded his ComteQ Publishing Firm (Margate) he's gained widespread recognition. One bright accomplishment was publication of a significant book on the history of AC's Jewish businesses, with many photos and Leo Schoffer the prime backer. Huberman recently entered ComteQ's "Portrait of Resilience: Holocaust Survivors of South Jersey" in the 14th annual Independent Publisher Book Awards, conducted each year to honor the best independently published titles, and open to publishers worldwide who produce books intended for the North American market. "Portraits" shared a Silver Medal in a tie for second place with a publication by the Byrd Theater Group of Richmond, Va., in the IPPY Mid-Atlantic Best Regional Non-Fiction category. Huberman's award is an honor and another feather in his cap and portends more national future recognition. Huberman said he and his firm "are profoundly honored."

WITH GOVERNOR'S SLUGFEST ENDING, HUGHES CENTER'S SCHULMAN SAYS CIVILITY IS NEEDED

Several months ago, Stockton College's Hughes Center's Executive Director Sharon Schulman declared, "What we need is civility in politics," which has been sorely lacking in the slugfest gubernatorial contest and some local and county elections. With the elections next Tuesday the William Hughes Center and Camden County College will hold a joint conference discussing "civility in government or the lack of it," on the Pomona campus in the Elizabeth B. Alton Auditorium on November 11 at 7:30 p.m. The college's Provost and Executive Vice President Dr.

David Carr, will moderate the discussion. Schulman declared, "The popularity of negative advertising in today's elections makes this topic particularly timely and we are delighted to branch out with Camden County College and make this material (available) to a much wider audience."

ALISA COOPER TELLS HEARTBREAKING TALE OF FATHER'S ALZHEIMER'S AT MEMORY WALK

It must be difficult for anyone to recall that a member of their family was a victim of the dreaded Alzheimer's disease. It had to be heart wrenching for Freeholder Alisa Cooper to relate how her suffering father, Dr. David Cooper, an AC dentist, and her late mother, former Atlantic County GOP Assemblywoman, Dolores Cooper, dealt with this horrible crisis, but they did. Alisa, with many tears told this story as guest speaker at the recent "Memory Walk" in Atlantic City sponsored by the Alzheimer's Association. She recalled how the disease affected her father and its impact on the family. "It was so heartbreaking to see what was happening to Daddy who was such a wonderful person, very compassionate and loving with a delightful sense of humor," she related, adding, "how Alzheimer's changed everything." Alisa lives in Linwood with her husband, Doug Little, and their son, David, named after his grandfather. Alisa's sister, a nurse at Shore Memorial Hospital, as a health-giver is familiar with Alzheimer's suffering. Many HM readers empathize with Alisa.

ELDER-LAW EXPERT MIKE WEINRAUB SAYS POLL SHOWS U.S. HAS TOP HEALTH CARE SYSTEM

With all the criticism emerging in the heated Capital Hill and White House health care battle, Ventnor-based elder law attorney Mike Weinraub questions if the U.S. has the best health care system in the world, but he avers most Americans "generally believe that the quality of health care in the United States is better than anywhere else in the world." However, in his lengthy Elder Law Report. Weinraub reports on the negatives and positives of the U.S. versus the World on whether America has the best health care system. Copies of the report with both sides of the story can be obtained by calling Weinraub's office 823-4900. Weinraub draws this conclusion: "What matters is that reform efforts be directed at lowering costs, enhancing access and increasing quality; there is always room to do better."

AREA'S ONLY KOSHER MEAT DELIVERY BUSINESS READY FOR THANKSGIVING SAYS GAIL STANGER

Gail Stanger's Kosher meat delivery business, which she launched several months ago, is now taking orders for Thanksgiving turkeys and other K meats. Stanger began the deliveries since there was no kosher butcher in the greater Atlantic City area, forcing those who want to keep kosher to go out of town, which many can't do. Gail's web site for details is www.ackoshermeats.com.
